Statement: My education has always been of critical importance. My parents began to enforce that at an early age and, as I grew older, it is a lesson that I learned for myself. As one of three children, I was also taught to value thriftiness, to work hard to save money, and to use that money wisely. Not only did I grow up with these worthwhile lessons, I also grew up with big dreams. I wanted, and still do want, to use my education to change the world, to somehow make it a better place for those who are not able to help themselves. It has becoming increasingly apparent to me that to do this in the way that I have chosen, I should continue my education beyond an undergraduate degree. The Wings Over America scholarship award is helping me to further these academic goals, for which I am beyond grateful.
