This scholarship is a blessing to my family and me. Organizations like WOASF benefit students like me that are dedicated to their studies by day and military children by night. Military families have to sacrifice so much time together to defend the rest of the country; but all of the time apart is worth it. This is especially true when opportunities like this scholarship have arisen from charitable organizations like WOASF. Thank you so much for the investment you put into my education, it really makes all of my hard work come to life.
