It is hard to put into words what the support of Wings Over America means to me. It is an honor to be selected, especially from this organization. Being selected for a four-year renewable scholarship has given me a tremendous boost of self-confidence as I take the next step in furthering my education. The faith WOASF has shown by selecting me for this scholarship gives me reassurance that I am prepared to succeed in my collegiate career at the University of Alabama. While this scholarship gives me the opportunity to breathe a little easier as I begin my college experience, it also gives me the support of what feels like the entire military “family”. I have a profound respect for our service members and what they sacrifice for our nation. I feel so thankful that the Wings over America donors recognize the sacrifices of service members and their families and have found a way to show their appreciation. Any way that organizations such as this one can lighten that load is truly a gift.
