

LCDR Landon Jones Memorial Scholar

Zachary Reinert

Aledo, TX

Aledo High School

Texas A&M University

Major: Areospace Engineering,
Minor: Physics

Activities:

- ❖ Varsity Football, Captain (12th)
- ❖ Varsity Baseball, Captain (12th)
- ❖ Student Council
- ❖ National Honor Society
- ❖ Volunteer: Aid for Down Syndrome Student, Academic Tutor, Lawn Service at Clothing Bank
- ❖ Year-Round Employment: Reinert's Lawn Care & Service (owner), AP Academic Tutor Aledo High School/Aledo Public High School

A scholarship serves as a master key into one's future. Growing up, I constantly lived in an atmosphere of uncertainty. With my father serving in the Navy, I became accustomed to moving frequently, changing friends often, and adapting to those around me. It was not until I moved to Texas that I experienced belonging. I was finally able to group in all aspects of my life. I learned to lead, influence and serve those around me. My mission became returning integrity to the community that received me so graciously. Through my commitment to academics, athletics, and my faith, I have learned to weave virtuous ideals into various organizations in the community. This leadership has prepared me for the next steps in my life. Earning an engineering degree will not only benefit myself, but also support my future family. However, there are numerous obstacles that must be overcome before limitless opportunities are opened through a college education. Countless doors are set before me, each with a different journey on the other side. What lies behind the door of my future remains undiscovered, yet receiving this scholarship serves as a key bringing endless possibilities into reality.