I want to express my thanks to your organizations for awarding me this scholarship. As each day carries me closer to college, I have a mix of excitement and stress rising inside me. The excitement stems from imagining my personal growth through college but the source of my stress derives itself from the economic responsibility associated with my educational goals. However, receiving these prestigious scholarships has relieved me, and my family, a substantial portion of the financial burden connected with a college education. I am eager to push myself and expound on the possibilities college can offer my future. Further, I believe this scholarship will allow me the freedom to focus my energy towards academic and extra-curricular activities awaiting my college arrival. This has been an incredible honor to receive these awards, and I would like to deeply thank the donors who made my dreams possible. To God be the glory!
