Receiving a 2017 scholarship is helping me to continue my career and educational pursuits with a renewed focus on serving others in light of this incredible gift. It has meant a new appreciation for the way the military brings people together in a unique and beautiful way. It has meant a huge step in my pursuit of an exciting design career and in my learning and growth over the next year. This provides an opportunity to spend the coming semester studying abroad and coming to know a new culture a reality. All of these are things for which I could never begin to express the fullness of my gratitude.
