I would first like to express my gratitude and thanks to Wings Over America Scholarship Foundation (WOASF) and Navy Federal Credit Union. Thank you! It is truly a humble honor to receive such a generous scholarship. With this money, I will be able to cut down on what I will need to borrow from student loans. As books, housing, and tuition costs seem to increase yearly, trying to earn and save enough money has been challenging. This scholarship will certainly reduce that burden and has helped lift some of the heavy weight off my shoulders. As a military child, one of the difficulties of moving from place to place every three years is establishing residency. Thus, since I am graduating from high school in Nebraska and going to school in Minnesota, I will be classified as an out-of-state resident and my tuition will be approximately $15,000 more per year. I know this puts a lot of financial strain on my parents, even though they would never tell me so. To have earned this scholarship, I am genuinely contributing to the costs that my parents will have and that gives me a sense of satisfaction. My parents work hard, and I know they have their own bills to worry about, so I was so happy to be able to surprise them when I told them about this award. Because of this scholarship, I am one step closer to pursuing my dream of becoming an astrophysicist. I am exceptionally grateful; it will help open additional doors to my future.
