

Maritime Patrol Association Scholar

Lauren McClintock

Anacortes, WA

Sponsor: CAPT Michael McClintock

College: University of Washington

2023-2024: Junior

Major: History and Comparative Literature/Classical Studies

Academic & Extracurricular Highlights:

- University of Washington Sailing Team: Recruitment Officer: College Sophomore
- Anacortes Schools Foundation
- Thunderbird Aquatic Club Swim Team: Team Co-Captain: 11th and 12th grades
- Anacortes High School Girls' Swim and Dive Team: Team Co-Captain: 11th grade
- Summer Employment: Anacortes Waterfront Alliance Sailing Instructor

I am incredibly honored to be among those selected as Maritime Patrol Association Scholarship recipient for the 2023-2024 academic year! Receiving this scholarship allows me to continue pursuing my passions without the usual accompanying financial burdens for both me and my family. These passions include obtaining my double major in both History and Comparative Literature at the University of Washington in Seattle; this is an educational path which being a military child deeply inspired, whether through countless trips to the Smithsonian while living in Washington D.C. or to countless archaeological sites while living abroad in Sigonella, Sicily. As someone who plans to pursue a law degree upon the completion of my undergraduate studies, receiving this scholarship greatly aids me in avoiding incurring future debt for my continued education. Furthermore, the generous support of the scholarship donors of the MPA gives me the financial flexibility to participate in school sports as a student athlete, which I do by sailing for the University of Washington's co-ed and women's teams. This scholarship allows me to pursue unpaid opportunities and to enjoy many varied college experiences, a degree of freedom which I deeply appreciate.