Since I discovered media communications in the beginning of high school I have dreamed of studying it at the most prestigious program in the nation. The S.I. Newhouse School of Public Communications is the perfect school for me. I am being taught by the most knowledgeable and qualified professors straight from the field. Advertising is a newfound passion of mine that allows me to be creative in an innovative way. I want to continue my studies at Syracuse and being awarded this 2015 Wings Over America Scholarship means that will be possible for another year. Thank you for the consideration and the generous scholarship award, it means very much to me, my family, and my education.
