Statement: Receiving a 2012 scholarship allows me ease some of the financial burden from my parents, and gives back what little I can compared to the support they have provided all this time. It means I can continue a higher learning to further improve myself, as well as experience all the other joys of college. But above all else, it tells me that I have been on the right track and that all of my cumulative efforts have meaning. An 'A' on a test tells a student how well they are doing in school. A raise at a job tells how well they are doing while employed. A Varsity Letter tells how well they are doing physically. However, this award substantiates each and every one. It doesn't measure me in a single aspect, rather it measures my entire being. It symbolizes all my efforts and experiences to get to where I am now.
